POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

If you want to be one up on your neighbors and take an advance peek at next Tuesday's election returns before the votes are either cast or counted, then pull up a chair—and let's look into the crystal ball together!

The gift of prophecy has descended upon us; figures start to emerge from the haze—and here are some of the answers, as this political prognosticator finds them:

Earl Warren will defeat Culbert L. Olson for Governor by a majority of 600,000 votes or better, the biggest gubernatorial landslide in California's history. Mr. Warren will carry at least 55 of the State's 58 counties.

Frederick Houser, the Alhambra Assemblyman, will be elected Lieutenant Governor, defeating the incumbent, Ellis E. Patterson, in one of the biggest upsets of the election.

There's a violent disturbance in the ball as we concentrate on the race for Attorney General, but it looks like Wallace Ware may emerge from the fog as the winner over Senator Bob Kenny.

Proposition No. 1, outlawing hot cargo practices and secondary boycotts for the duration of the war will be approved by the voters by a margin of at least 250,000 votes.

Proposition No. 4, repealing the State Income Tax, will be approved by a smashing majority of 500,000 or better.

A heavily pro-war, pro-Warren Legislature will be elected, bringing defeat to a majority of the Olson legislators on the General Election ballot.

Republicans will win control of a majority of California's seats in Congress.

And between 50 and 55 per cent of the registered voters will go to the polls, as compared to 47 per cent at the primary.

That, fellow citizens, is a preview of what you'll read in your newspapers on the day after election—unless the crystal ball has tricked us. If you're inclined to be reckless, you can even bet money on it!

In Appreciation

I want to express the appreciation of the Campbell Community Council to the workers who so willingly and thoroughly canvassed the Campbell union district for the Campbell Community and War Chest.

The success of the drive was most gratifying and was due to the contributors whose generosity has made possible the carrying through of all our objectives.

The team which has been working on the war chest drive reports very good results. Mrs. Ralph Hyde, member of the club, is manager of the Campbell drive. The ladies soliciting on the club team are Mesdames G. E. Farley, Herbert Hudson, F. A. Jacobson, Ira Grim, J. B. Collins, E. L. Farnham, and G. E. Jeffers.

Word Is Received From Walter Smily

Word has been received by the staff of the Press from Walter Smily, who is in the Civilian Signal Corps of the U. S. Army. He is living in Olympia, Wash., and motoring every day to work at Fort Lewis.

Smily closed his radio shop in the Press office on June 6 and started his training in the signal corps and after completion was transferred to Washington. He likes his work very much he writes, and has had a promotion. He hopes to save up his leaves and come down to visit Campbell friends at Christmas.

Norval Guttomsen, 21, and Shirley Kress, 19, of San Jose, have applied for a marriage license. The groom to be has many friends in Campbell where he graduated from the local schools. Both in high school and at San Jose State he took an active part in dramatics.

The marriage of Miss Barbara Knowles, 19, of Campbell and Barnard Hartman, Jr., 20 of San Francisco will be solemnized Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15, in the Federated church in Saratoga. Miss Knowles has just returned from a visit in Richmond with her fiancé's parents and other relatives.

Charles A. Short, Jr., of Campbell is one of 73 students from California enrolled at Northwestern university this fall. He is registered in the medical department.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk On Amendments

L. D. Bohnett of the law firm of Bohnett, Hill, Cottrell and Boccardo of San Jose, explained the purport of the amendments to be voted upon at the general election next week, for the Kiwanis club at their meeting Tuesday. M. E. Purmort presided.

Next week the members and ladies will be guests at Mountain View of that cities' club and ladies.

John Cassidy Is Hit by Auto

John Cassidy, 61, of Lati-mer avenue, was taken to San Jose hospital Monday night, where he was treated for back injuries received when he was struck by a car at Market and Post streets in San Jose.

Nicholas Locicero, driver of the car told police officers that he was looking for a parking space and didn't see Cassidy who had just started to cross the street in the cross walk. Locicero was cited for hitting a pedestrian in a crosswalk.

Miss Betty Bunda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bunda, San Jose-Los Gatos road, announced her engagement to David Knowles last week by passing the traditional box of candy at a meeting of her sorority, Zeta Chi. Miss Bunda is a graduate of Campbell Union High school and a third year student at San Jose State college. Her fiancé is at the Pre-flight School, Maxwell Field, Ala.

Jack Murdock was guest of honor at a midday no-host party Saturday in recognition of his birthday. Included in the party were Messrs. and Mesdames Paul Becker, Budd Levenberg, Ethan Lanphear and Jack Murdock. After the feast the party with the exception of the Beckers, went to San Francisco and attended a performance of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Robinson Out of State Game With U. S. Coast Guard

Bert Robinson, San Jose State's first string fullback and key man in the Spartan offense, and Gray McConnell, first string tackle, will be on the sidelines this week end when the Spartans play host to the United States Coast Guard.

Bert was injured in a final practice session last week and it was his absence that hurt the Spartans as University of San Francisco topped San Jose from the undefeated ranks with a 20-13 loss in Kezar stadium Sunday. A broken ankle, received in the first quarter of the USF game, will keep McConnell out of action for the remainder of the season.

Skeels Gives Qualifications For Sheriff

Years of study of criminology and sixteen years actual experience as a law enforcement officer give a valuable background to Lloyd Skeels, who is a candidate for the office of sheriff of Santa Clara county.

For the past sixteen years Skeels has been constable of Morgan Hill, and during that time has built up an enviable record as an efficient, honest and fearless officer. He has made several notable captures in that period and has given his community a brand of law enforcement which has been outstanding. That same brand of law enforcement he could give the entire county.

To Skeels a promise is something to be kept, so he has made no pre-election pledges except the following: "As sheriff I promise to give the people of Santa Clara county the non-political law enforcement they deserve. I further pledge that if elected I will not be influenced by any man or group of men in the slightest particular, but will be guided solely and alone by my conscience in the discharge of my official duties."

Community and War Chest Drive Goes Over the Top

The Campbell Community Council held a jubilee meeting Tuesday evening when Mrs. Maude Hyde, campaign manager for the community and war chest campaign reported that $3027.28 had been paid in or pledged, by approximately 1000 people.

The council could not voice adequate appreciation of Mrs. Hyde's untiring efforts in seeing that every bit of the territory was covered, assisting with personal solicitations where other workers were unavailable. Her enthusiasm was an inspiration to the convassers who did a wonderful piece of work to secure the result.

The council allocated $500 to the war chest for immediate use, and an additional $700 for a war emergency fund for future distribution.

The regular community chest organizations budget of $1600 was allotted and $225 put in the reserve fund, from which amounts have been taken in recent years when the amount of the budget was not raised in the campaigns. A committee was named including Mrs. Hyde, chairman; Messrs. W. H. Van Dyke, I. R. Abbott, H. M. Shadle and Howard J. Smith, with Ethan Lanphear an ex-officio member, to disburse the war chest funds.

A vote of thanks was extended to Fred M. Drew of the Drew cannery for the interest aroused among the cannery employees, resulting in a contribution of $406.75 from that group.

San Filippos Close Campbell Store

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sanfilippo, who have owned and operated the Campbell People's market for the past 15 years, have sold their stock and Monday closed the doors of their business.

The Sanfilippos remark that it has been grand to do business with the people of the community and wish to thank them for their patronage. They are living on Willow Glen Way in San Jose and Mr. Sanfilippo expects to go into some branch of defense work.

"After years of work in the store," says Mrs. Sanfilippo, "I will be lonesome for my friends and patrons and hope they will call on us at our home at 1109."

Albert Moorland who was connected with the American Trust bank in Campbell and since its closing with the San Jose branch, has accepted a position as chief accountant with the Vallejo Electric Light and Power company. He and Mrs. Moorland (Anna Hagelin) are moving to San Francisco Nov. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin S. Walsh have moved into a new home at 318 North Harrison avenue which they recently purchased.

Van Dyke Tells Of New Trend In School System

Synopsis of talk Superintendent W. H. Van Dyke gave at the high school P. T. A. on the new trends in the educational system due to present conditions:

"Changes in our educational system are taking place so rapidly that it is almost impossible to keep up with them."

"Wartime public education will turn every high school into a pre-induction training center and involve every child in a war service program. We are deep in a great war and we know that we cannot buy our way out."

"Production alone will not win. We must fight it out. Education is the backbone of training and this war is to be won on the training front. The war will be won by brains, knowledge, skills, coordination and teamwork back of the fighting we are prepared to do. This is the training our education program can supply."

"Every high school youth graduated during the next three years at least is destined to be drawn directly into military service or direct war-aid effort. Every school child will have a war-effort daily activity in every school and learning activity."

It is estimated that 40 per cent of the present high school boys will become pilots in this war. The air force will number 2,000,000 within a few months. The high schools through pre-flight training and other related courses must give these boys a background training to prepare them for this work.

"Selective service will probably take one out of each two of these eligible and of draft age. This again means these boys must have the necessary training and be made physically fit for army life."

"More and more women are needed in war industries. Los Angeles needs today 40,000 trained women workers, principally in the airplane factories; San Francisco needs 3500 and will soon need more. The implications here certainly are clear. Schools must provide the training not only for its regular students but for adults as well."

"Commercially trained workers are sorely needed. Stenographers who can type only 20 words a minute are being 'gobbled up' by the war industries."

"Our students must be trained not just at our leisure but immediately. It must never be said of us that we have 'too little and too late'."

"Army officials tell us we

THEY, TOO, CAN SERVE

While America scours farms and cities to recruit new millions for the fighting front and to staff a continent-spanning arsenal of war industries, perhaps one source of additional fighting manpower is being overlooked.

At all events, consideration is due the proposal of John Arthur Reynolds, former Naval Reserve Officer one-time representative of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, that deserving members of the nation's prison population be given a chance to shoulder arms in defense of their country. Many of them have begged for just that chance. Instead of supporting these men in congested prisons, why not create from their ranks an American Foreign Brigade made up wholly of volunteers, with prison selection boards set up to weed out the cowards, trouble-makers and misfits?

This suggestion envisages of course, a special training center for these volunteers which, effectively administered, could develop a force of fighting men proud of their organization, their service and their name, glad of a chance to atone for their past record. Before the war is over, many doubtless will be taken from prison anyway for roadbuilding, fire fighting, crop harvesting. Why not, in special units of their own, let them be given an opportunity to redeem themselves on the fighting front?

YOUR DATE WITH SANTA

Don't forget—it's last call for sending Christmas presents abroad to our men in the armed forces. Oct. 31 is deadline day, officials warn.

And don't think that to the boys stationed far from familiar hearthside this Christmas, on the high seas and in distant lands, a remembrance from friends and loved ones at home won't be one of the most cheering gifts of a lifetime!

It scarcely needs saying that the wants of a man in the armed services are simple. All that he needs or can use in the way of a gift can, of a certainty, be found here in our local stores. Even if gay Christmas neckties and fancy wardrobes were permissible, the days have long since passed when local residents had to run to the city for their shopping needs.

Certainly by now no gas rationing program should be needed to convince gift buyers of the wisdom of buying at home. Shop today, and at home, for the overseas gift that will show you remembered.

everybody knows, is a Catholic institution, and a team representing a Southern university. In an interval one of the Southern players limped up to Maxwell.

"Mr. Referee," he said, "I want to make a protest. There's one of those Georgetown men that seems to have a private grudge against me. Every time we two get in a scrimmage together he bites me. Yes sir, he just hauls off and bites me. I don't want to start any rough house stuff, but I'm getting good and tired of having that big Irishman biting me. What had I better do?"

"I should advise," said Tiny, "that you play him only on Fridays."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

• THE RECORD PROVES IT!

Since April, 1940, when he urged the President and Congress to enable States to create State Guard units, Governor Olson has achieved a tremendous mobilization of California's natural, industrial and human resources! It was THE GOVERNOR who had the foresight to call for California's HUGE SHIP-BUILDING PROGRAM . . . the courage to urge LEND-LEASE and SELECTIVE SERVICE. It was THE GOVERNOR who was truly NON-PARTISAN in appointing prominent Republicans to the State Civilian Defense Council. He has rallied all patriotic Californians behind the war effort!

MYSTERY WEEK

Obviously, with no better alibi than too much other material to write about, the mystery stories have been pushed aside. With deep apologies to the ghastly tales of horror, I herewith mention a few of the recent publications for lovers of intrigue.

"Snake in the Grass" by James Howard Wellard, merited the Red Badge Mystery prize of $1000. The locale of this story is a huge resort hotel in Charleston. And in this book you will have to wait several chapters for a murder to take place. O, no! A murder has already happened on the very first page. A Mr. Hope is discovered murdered in his hotel room. He had registered in company with his wife, presumably. However, into the scene rushes another lady, charming, too, who gives the name of Mrs. Hope, and asks for her husband. From that instant events unfold rapidly, with excitement loose all over the place. The investigation that began revealed almost everyone staying at the resort had a decided interest in the dead man.

"The Case of the Careless Kitten" by Erle Stanley Gardner, holds its proud place with all other Gardner "Perry Mason" stories. The kitten, Amber Eyes, slinks, plays, and is tortured throughout the story. It was when the half-familiar voice was on the phone, saying, "Contact Perry Mason . . . bring him with you . . . !" that things began to happen. There was Uncle Gerald's jittery conduct, and the finding of the body in that lonely spot—and countless other episodes that add and make this "Perry Mason" book parallel to any previous one.

"Hanged for a Sheep" by Frances and Richard Lockridge, a Mr. and Mrs. North mystery. Pam North, the unpredictable, keen, heroine of detection, rushes forth again, this time to visit her Aunt Flora who is a character you will not soon forget. She boasted the experience of four marriages to her credit, an accumulation of offspring. Pam was prepared to cope with a bunch of relatives, but she didn't expect dear Aunt Flora to whisper in her ear that someone was trying to poison her. Judging her aunt tolerantly, as she knew her to have many things on her mind, Pam did not take the whispers too seriously until a corpse made its entrance. When the investigation starts to unravel the mystery, interest runs high. Don't miss it.

Carmen Amaya Recital Second In Concert Series

Carmen Amaya, with a reputation which has been growing since she was three years old, will dance for the San Jose concert series on Tuesday evening, Nov. 10. This gypsy "spitfire," born in a Granada cave, went to South America with her family and there quickly became famous. Toscanini saw her in Buenos Aires in a performance. Embracing her, the maestro declared, "Never have I seen such fire and rhythm in my life."

Coming to New York last year, Carmen Amaya's Carnegie Hall debut "set the city on fire." "A tornado," "This human Vesuvius shouldered, flamed and exploded . . . the most exciting evening of dance this city has seen." These press comments are typical of the newspaper headlines the morning after Amaya's recital.

Carmen Amaya has a dancing partner, Antonio Triana; a guitarist, Subiscas; and sisters, uncles and cousins, who dance and play guitar to join her mad frenzy.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary

California voters, when they go to the polls a few days from now, will determine by their ballots whether disruptive hot cargo practices and secondary boycotts, which endanger the success of the war effort, shall be outlawed in this state for the duration.

The measure banning such practices is Proposition No. 1. It is not only No. 1 in ballot position, it is No. 1, too, in importance, for it is imperative that the people of California serve notice, as they can by a "Yes" vote on this proposal, that they will not tolerate internal conflict while we are fighting a war for survival against the Axis.

Any other action by the voters of this state, at this time, would be as great a calamity as a serious defeat for our armed forces, because the defeat of No. 1 would undoubtedly be interpreted by unthinking labor leaders as an invitation to continue with strikes as usual and work stoppages.

Labor leaders opposed to this bill outlawing hot cargo and secondary boycotts have argued that the measure is unnecessary, saying that they have voluntarily agreed not to call either primary or secondary strikes during the war emergency, and not to resort to use of the highly questionable hot cargo weapon in labor disputes. But the fact remains that both the hot cargo and secondary boycott practices have been used repeatedly in California since Pearl Harbor and have caused untold damage to the war effort. If the labor leaders were sincere in their declaration that they have no intention of resorting to these practices, then there would be no reason whatever for their opposition to Proposition No. 1, for the measure specifically provides that it is to be in effect only during the war period.

California voters, at this time, have reason to recall that the unthinking, radical labor leaders of France were still calling sit-down strikes, still ordering work stoppages and still fighting for what they called "social gains," when Hitler's troops swept over France and robbed the French people of every vestige of liberty.

There never should have been a referendum against this vitally-needed war legislation, there never should have been a campaign against it—and there would not have been if labor leaders were as interested in protecting the rights, lives and liberties of the working people of California as they claim to be, for labor will lose everything if America loses this war.

Let it be said to the credit of the rank and file membership of organized labor that they did not initiate this referendum, nor are they following their mis-guided leaders who did initiate it. The worker who has a son or a brother out on one of our fighting fronts, or preparing to go there, doesn't want to go out on secondary strikes or any other kind of strikes. There is no need in this article of answering the campaign of misrepresentation which has been waged against No. 1. All that is necessary is to emphasize that "Yes" vote, a vote for an uninterrupted flow of supplies for the men who are fighting our battle for freedom.

DEL MUTOLO BACKS "HOT CARGO"; ATTACKS EARL WARREN

Del Mutolo Says
'Hot Cargo' Law
Will Be Invalid

A warning from Assemblyman M. G. Del Mutolo, Democratic candidate for the State senate that passage of the "hot cargo" proposition No. 1 in November will be followed by more legislation against labor was today being discussed by members of the United Labor Victory Council.

Del Mutolo, addressing the council, said that the bill is unconstitutional and that Earl Warren, Republican candidate for governor, had once held this opinion. He criticized Warren for not expressing views on the "hot cargo" bill at this time.

Roy Sturtevant, Democratic candidate for the assembly in the 28th district, also addressed the meeting.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY BEHIND WARREN GROWS

Four Hundred Thousand Bourbon Votes At Primary Will Show Huge General Election Gain

Attorney Generals Strength On Increase As Day For Final Decision Of Voters Nears

The phenomenal primary support of regular Democrats—nearly a half-million of them, according to official tabulation—given Earl Warren, the non-partisan candidate for Governor, promises to mount to an even higher figure at the November general election, present trends indicate.

Democrats in every section of the State have joined the Warren march to the war-time governorship of California under the banner, "Leadership—not Politics!"

Warren has pledged full co-operation with President Roosevelt in his win-the-war efforts, and Warren Democrats everywhere point out that the President has himself set an example of non-partisan executive leadership in naming many men of the opposite party to positions of responsibility in his administration.

Gordon H. Garland, Democratic leader and Speaker of the State Assembly, is one of the keynotes urging the election of Earl Warren, as also is Henry Meehan, 10 years a member of the State Assembly, and former Democratic speaker pro-tem of the Lower House. Meehan says:

"Democrats, in electing Warren, will be naming as Governor a better Democrat than his opponent, because Earl Warren's record in public office is one of steadfast adherence to the fundamental principles of the Democratic form of government on which this country was founded."

New Trend In School System

have done an excellent job of teaching people how to work together but have not taught them enough mathematics, science and the like. We must stress the fundamentals somewhat more than we have in the past. However, they have been stressed a great deal more than some people would lead us to believe.

"This emphasis on war training is having its effect on certain types of classes in schools. In some sections art, music, homemaking and agricultural classes have been hard hit. This is not true as yet at Campbell High.

"The courses of study at the Campbell High school have all been altered to help give our students the needed training in this war program. A pre-flight aeronautics course has been established, the science courses emphasized more than ever before. Our mathematics courses are now receiving their just recognition. The physical education department is developing an excellent physical fitness program patterned after the army. In fact, every department of the school is now geared to war activities and we feel that our students will leave here with a foundation that will fit them for the immediate war activities and for the peace activities which are to follow."
